Highfields Programming Expands to Clare and Isabella Counties

Onondaga, Michigan – October 5, 2016 – Highfields has expanded their programming to help more children and families in mid-Michigan. As of October 1, Highfields is serving clients in two additional counties, Clare and Isabella.

Individuals in Clare and Isabella counties are now eligible for Highfields' Families Together Building Solutions program, which helps families create solutions to prevent out-of-home placement for children.

Highfields' CEO/President Brian Philson says, "We are excited to add to our service area and look forward to new partnerships in mid-Michigan."

Highfields is a nonprofit human services organization which provides home-based counseling services, residential care, and experiential education and support programs for children, youth, and families in 12 mid-Michigan counties. For more information, please visit www.highfields.org.
