Highfields receives grant from the Jackson Community Foundation for Highfields Family Preservation Program

Highfields recently received a $3,500 grant from the Jackson Community Foundation. The grant will help further Highfields' mission of providing opportunities for children, youth and families. Funding for the Family Preservation Program will be spent to provide for immediate and therapeutic needs for client families when no other resources are available in a timely manner.

"Highfields' families are lucky to have a collaborative, community support network here in Jackson County," said Highfields' President/CEO, Brian Philson. "The Jackson Community Foundation is dedicated to connecting people and resources to causes that strengthen and build our community."

Meeting these needs means family stability, skill development, and ultimately stronger and more empowered families.
